

When travelling all over Canada I have found some real gems to visit in the provinces. In early May I drove through the Rocky Mountains in Alberta and saw an abundance of wildlife. Last February I took my family to see Quebec city and participate in the Le Carnival with Bonhomme. In early August I flew to Nova Scotia to play 3 rounds of golf with Mr. Brophy on their magnificent courses. My wife rented a sail boat and she took me from White Rock to Victoria in a thrilling venture. My best friend Karl bought a cabin in northern Manitoba, so we took a helicopter there and relaxed for a terrific week. The vast size of Canada presents many opportunities for adventure and magnificence. I love travelling to all the provinces to see the immense amount of tourist attractions for people to enjoy.

My paragraph is about all of the great places to visit all over Canada.
